

Dr Andrew Pethebridge

Dr Pethebridge has worked in sexual health medicine, addictions and general practice before training in psychiatry. He is presently the Director of Training for psychiatry registrars in SESIAHS and his clinical work is in both community psychiatry and addiction psychiatry. Over the years he has completed two Master's degrees, one by course work and treatise, the other by research. His professional interests include the health of medical practitioners, integration of addiction and psychiatric services and innovative models of providing psychiatric services.